SR 542/03/25 HIGHWAYS MATTERS

542.1 Speed Indication Device

Resolved to receive the following, which had been circulated alongside the agenda:

- SID half-yearly report October 2024 to March 2025
- SID cumulative data April 2023 to March 2025
- Future SID reports to the Council

Traffic volumes were considered in both directions, and it was noted that speeding has decreased over the two-year period to approximately four per cent on weekdays and 10% at weekends since its installation in 2023 (compared with around eighty per cent in 2015). It was considered that the data would not be effective in determining expected volumes for future planning applications, although a visual count of vehicle numbers in existing areas might be useful. It was also resolved that simple half-yearly reports with key information, including traffic volumes, continue to be produced with additional updates if necessary.
